

SOMERLED 2011 ADELAIDE HILLS SAUVIGNON BLANC

This wine is made from pristine sauvignon blanc grapes grown near Charleston in the Adelaide Hills region of South Australia. The beautifully flavoured fruit was harvested at full ripeness, with a very attractive green grassiness from the cooler than usual summer growing season. Juice from the fermenter was a stunning bright, light green with fabulous aromas filling the winery.

This wine is made for early enjoyment! It's a fine aperitif wine and is delicious with light seafood dishes (especially oysters).

Appearance	Pale, very bright and fresh with attractive tints.
Nose	Tantalising aromas - this is a very fragrant wine. Lifted tropical notes enhance the typical fresh leafiness and a stunning clean green grassiness.
Palate	Very soft and attractive palate - delicate, flavoursome, dry, crisp and lingering.
